On September 12, Livein-Style Magazine and Vella Wine Bar + Kitchen hosted a spectacular event to celebrate New York Fashion Week SS18.

The night began with a Pre-party / VIP Event from 7 to 8pm at Jeffrey Stein 78, one of the most glamorous beauty saloon located at 1498 Second Ave NYC, where designers presented their collections.

The Fashion Show which saw the presentation of the Kilame Shoes Collection took place one block away from Jeffrey Stein 78 at Vella Wine Bar starting around 8 pm (1480 Second Ave corner of 77 Street), a show curated by the talented designer & Fashion Editor Pamela Quinzi! The event was covered by Tv Personality and Fashion Journalist Viola Manuela Ceccarini with her television show 'Fancy Talks' inspired by NYC's fashionable lifestyle.

The show has a new production company; a great team worked with passion behind the scenes directing and filming. A shout out to Ezequiel Gil Producer and Journalist and Enfrin Chay, video operator and photographer of the night.

The event was a great success and an opportunity to connect with fashion personalities and fashion lovers and always remember the Magazine's achievements and results of the past years, always with a glance to the future and to the upcoming projects.

LiveIn-Style will continue to represent the Italian excellence in the world and to deliver the best from the world of fashion, entertainment, art, culture, luxury and modern life-style.

2017 was a year full of surprises, challenges and rewards for our team Livein-Style, formed by experts in the luxury field and high quality products/ lifestyle.

Livein is a magazine aimed at an educated public, dynamic, interested in the luxury goods and the modern life-style. Each issue is a special issue dedicated to current events, developed through interviews and authoritative comments.

Among the people to accredit for the realization of this project are Joseph Ralf Fraia, President Sinkrom Corp. as well as managers and editor in chief of livein-Style New York, Viola Manuela Ceccarini (Vivi) , media expert, Pamela Quinzi Fashion Editor and Designer of the fabulous Kilame Shoes and last but not least Matteo Torielli president of the magazine, CEO of LIS Srl publishing company, .

The partyt was a great success! Thank you to all the guests for participating in the success of the event!
